He first swooped down on Heath's place and arrested two or three who were running a game, but there were no players. The three dice throwers were taken over to Justice Burch's house, but the evidence against them was so weak, that there was no alternative but to dismiss them.

The Rock Park Hotel was also visited by the sheriff and his deputies, but nogames were found in progress, and the supposition is that the players lead been warned of the presence of the officers

CLOSE OF AN EVENTFUL LIFE.

ren Passes Away.

Charles Louis Fleischmann died recently at Meyer's Hotel, aged 84 years. The life of Mr. Fielschmann was a strange, eventful one. He was educated at a scientific school in Bavaria, and emigrated to America in 1832. He was a civil engineer under a Mr. Ella-worth, president of an Illinois road, and was subsequently for several years in be Patent Office. He assisted Professor lorse in his early experiments with the lectric telegraph, and in 1817 was sent y the United States Government to investigate and report upon the feasibility of importing various choice breeds of been into this country.

He was appointed United States Conni to Shutgart, and was at that time to nutbor of a work on grape culture.
In 1856 he was sent to Paris as a memer of the International Jury at the Ex-American inventors to recognition, especially in the line of reaper and seving machines. He visited both Algeria and Russia with a view to the investigation of the methods for the cultivation of forest trees. He issued many pamphiets upon the subject of emigration of America. tion to America.

GAVE UP THE GHOST.

more than he did on the previous two. No More Basebatt in This City Until Next Year.

For the remainder of the year the Washington baseball enthusiast will have to struggle along without seeing his favorite game, except as played by amateurs, or when some of the League or Brotherhood clubs can be induced to transfer a game or two here. Sullivan has relinquished all his efforts to keep a club here, and, although he managed to get a team together, they gave such a sorry exhibition against the Columbia Athletic Club on Saturday, that Ted thought it wiser not to have them stack up against any heavier clubs, and so up against any heavier clubs, and so regretfully gave up the ghost.

Yesterday he signed to manage the Pittsburg League Club and assumed charge of that team to-day. He took with him two of Washington's old pitchers, Underwood and Philips, and Gleason will probably be signed also. Looking to next year it seems probable that Washington will resume its position in the League. The way will be easily opened for it, and past experience has demonstrated that with proper management and a fairly good team it would be successful. Washington can never be represented in a minor association and hope to have a successful team. There is not the interest in a minor league club as there is in one in a major league. This was proven this

There will be an attempt made to try to induce some of the League teams to transfer a series of games here so that the Capital will not be entirely without ball playing.

The Reports Were Not True, On Saturday the Washington dele gates to the National Total Abstinence Convention, held at Pittsburg, returned home accompanied by a number of the delegates from Scranton, Philadelphia and other cities. The latter visited the Catholic University before leaving the city. President Doberty of the Pather Mathew Society of Washington was one of the delegates to Pittsburg. He says that the reports telegraphed from that city misrepresented the demeanor of the convention. Father McTighe, who opposed the insertion of temper-ance lessons in Catholic text books, he says, was not hooted and hissed as re-ported, but on the contrary, the conven-tion gave him an extension of ten minutes time in which to complete his re-marks, a courtesy that was extended to no other speaker. Mr. Doherty says there were no scenes of tumult and disorder in the convention.

Politician and Preacher

The Lieutenaut Governor of Indiana the Rev. Ira J. Chase, delivered an in teresting sermon yesterday morning to the congregation of the Vermont avenu-Christian Church. His sermon was replete with interesting anecdotes and graphic word-pictures, often humorous and pathetic. He left yesterday after-noon to attend the encampment at Bos ton, but will probably stop here again on his return to Indiana.

Street Car Whistles and Policemon. The police officers have for sometime objected to the use of whistles by the conductors on the Washington and Georgetown Railroad.
